

PRESS RELEASE

Issued 3 May 2024 – for immediate release

TCS&D's Cold Chain Hub attracts industry leaders

Cold Chain Hub 2024 – the UK's only dedicated event for the cold storage and distribution sector – will take place at Birmingham's NEC on 9 & 10 October. With a focus on sustainability, the exhibition and conference will showcase innovation across the cold supply chain.

This will be the first time since 1981 that this established event – supported by the Road Haulage Association and organised by the team behind TCS&D magazine, the UK's leading publication for the temperature-controlled supply chain – will be held at the NEC. "Exhibitor bookings and early visitor registrations show great support for the move," says Martyn Cogan, Event Director. "The NEC enjoys a strategic and easily accessible location."

Brand-new exhibitors

As well as a new venue – Hall 17 at the NEC – the event has already attracted first-time exhibitors including Acrobat Vehicle Rental, Fischer Panda, FridgeXpress, Seymour Manufacturing International, Mitsubishi Heavy Industries Thermal Transport Europe GmbH, RTS/Lamberet, Tiger Trailers, Principal Logistics Technologies, Rack Collapse Prevention and Building Automation Products Inc. Cold Chain Hub 2024 will showcase a diverse range of solutions from cold store constructors, temperature-controlled operators and rental/contract hire specialists, as well as suppliers of protective clothing, temperature-monitoring solutions and refrigerated vehicles. An outside area will feature the latest innovations in portable cold stores and refrigerated trailers, rigids and panel vans, including electric vehicles. The list of exhibitors for Cold Chain Hub 2024 is now live at www.tcsdevents.com.

Free conference programme

The event will also feature a free-to-attend conference across both days, with insightful presentations from a great line-up of speakers. "There will be two conference streams," explains Martyn Cogan. "One will focus on Refrigerated Transport and will be sponsored by Petit Forestier. The other will turn the spotlight on Cold Storage."

TCS&D Awards to be held alongside

TCS&D magazine will also host the annual TCS&D Awards – now in their 11th year and with a brand-new headline sponsor, Sunswap. The prestigious TCS&D Awards Dinner, which celebrates innovation and excellence in the cold chain in a variety of categories, will take place on Wednesday 9 October at the National Motorcycle Museum, close to the NEC. This year's pre-dinner drinks reception will be sponsored by Dawsonsgroup Truck and Trailer to celebrate the company's special 50th anniversary. "The annual TCS&D Awards Dinner is always a brilliant occasion for celebrating success in the cold supply chain and networking with industry peers," says Martyn Cogan.

Companies interested in exhibiting their products and/or services at Cold Chain Hub 2024 or attending the TCS&D Awards should contact Martyn Cogan on 07545 378793 or visit www.tcsdevents.com.
